Course Overview: The content was designed from an Indigenous world view, delivered through the voices and stories of Indigenous community members and scholars. Health services staff who complete the course will have the knowledge, skills and insights to implement an inter-professional approach to understanding and supporting the wellness of Indigenous patients, families and communities. The final assignment will be to develop a Culturally Responsive Health Care Plan and Indigenous Communications Strategy applicable to your work-place environment.

Target Audience: The course is intended for health services staff who are not medically trained, as well as students interested in or already engaged in health science education.

Time/Date: This online course is self-directed. Participants are expected to complete the online modules at their own pace, within their registered time frame. This course is anticipated to take learners 12 hours to complete. Sessions will be available to commence on May 16, 2022 and be available to July 16, 2022. (8 weeks is allowed.)

Course Cost: $150 (+GST)

Course Start Date: May 16, 2022
